

Developing Fine Motor Skills

The development of muscle strength and dexterity in hands and fingers, eye-hand coordination, visual-motor control and visual-perceptual skills is essential for the acquisition of pre-writing skills.

A therapeutic program for Pre School to Kindergarten students to improve pre-writing skills.

The Skills of Printing

Children who experience difficulties with fine motor and visual-motor skills often struggle in acquiring the skills of printing. This struggle can lead to frustration, poor motivation and reduced work output.

A therapeutic program for Grades 1, 2 and 3 students to improve printing skills, legibility and speed.

The Skills of Handwriting

Studies have shown that increased legibility of handwriting can result in improved self-esteem, greater proficiency and stronger grades.

The Skills of Handwriting is a therapeutic program for students in Grades 3 to 6 to improve cursive writing. This program focuses on the fundamentals of handwriting and lower case letters.
